QUESTION 1 (multiple-choice questions) [10 marks in total] 6 marks

Questions 1.1. – 1.10. are multiple-choice questions designed to assess your ability to think critically about the subject. Please read each question carefully before reading the answer options. Be aware that some questions may seem to have more than one right answer, but you are to look for the one that makes the most sense and is the most correct. When you have a clear idea of the question, find your answer and mark your selection on the answer sheet by highlighting the relevant paragraph in yellow. Select only ONE answer. Candidates who select more than one answer will receive no mark for that specific question.

Question 1.1

Which of the following statements incorrectly reflects the main purpose of the Model Law?

- (a) The Model Law provides effective mechanisms for dealing with cases of cross-border insolvency so as to promote a number of objectives, including the protection and maximisation of trade and investment.
- (b) The Model Law provides effective mechanisms for dealing with cases of cross-border insolvency so as to promote a number of objectives, including the fair and efficient administration of cross-border insolvencies that protects the interests of all creditors and other interested persons, not including the debtor.
- (c) The Model Law is a substantive unification of insolvency law so as to promote co-operation between courts of the enacting State and foreign States and facilitation of the rescue of financially troubled businesses.
- (d) All of the above.

Question 1.2

Which of the following statements is unlikely to be a reason for the development of the Model Law?

Question 1.3

Which of the following challenges to a recognition application under the Model Law is most likely to be successful?

- (a) The registered office of the debtor is not in the jurisdiction where the foreign proceedings were opened, but the debtor has an establishment in the jurisdiction of the enacting State.

- (c) The debtor has neither its COMI nor an establishment in the jurisdiction where the foreign proceedings were opened.
- (d) The debtor has neither its COMI nor an establishment in the jurisdiction of the enacting State.

- (a) The locus standi access rules.
- (b) The public policy exception.
- (c) The safe conduct rule.
- (d) The “hotchpot” rule.

Question 1.5

For a debtor with its COMI in South Africa and an establishment in Brazil, foreign main proceedings are opened in South Africa and foreign non-main proceedings are opened in Brazil. Both the South African foreign representative and the Brazilian foreign representative have applied for recognition before the relevant court in the UK. Please note that South Africa has implemented the Model Law subject to the so-called principle of reciprocity (based on country designation), Brazil has not implemented the Model Law and the UK has implemented the Model Law without any so-called principle of reciprocity. In this scenario, which of the following statements is the most correct one?

- (a) The foreign main proceedings in South Africa will not be recognised in the UK because the UK is not a designated country under South Africa’s principle of reciprocity, but the foreign non-main proceedings in Brazil will be recognised in the UK despite Brazil not having implemented the Model Law.
- (b) Both the foreign main proceedings in South Africa and the foreign non-main proceedings in Brazil will not be recognised in the UK because the UK has no principle of reciprocity and Brazil has not implemented the Model Law.

(c) Both the foreign main proceedings in South Africa and the foreign non-main proceedings in Brazil will be recognised in the UK.

(d) None of the statements in (a), (b) or (c) are correct.

Question 1.6

Which of the following statements regarding concurrent proceedings under the Model Law is true?

(c) The commencement of domestic insolvency proceedings prevents or terminates the recognition of a foreign proceeding.

(d) If only after recognition of the foreign proceedings concurrent domestic insolvency proceedings are opened, then any post-recognition relief granted based on Article 21 of the Model Law will not be either adjusted or terminated if consistent with the domestic insolvency proceedings.

Question 1.7

When using its discretionary power to grant post-recognition relief pursuant to Article 21 of the Model Law, what should the court in the enacting State primarily consider?

(a) The court must be satisfied that the interests of the creditors and other interested parties, excluding the debtor, are adequately protected.

(b) The court should consider whether the relief requested is necessary for the protection of the assets of the debtor or the interests of the creditors and strike an appropriate balance between the relief that may be granted and the persons that may be affected.

(c) The court should consider both (a) and (b).

(d) Neither (a) nor (b) must be considered by the court.

Question 1.8

Which of the statements below regarding the Centre of Main Interest (or COMI) and the Model Law is incorrect?

(a) COMI is a defined term in the Model Law.

(b) For a corporate debtor, the Model Law does contain a rebuttable presumption that the debtor's registered office is its COMI.

- (c) While (for purposes of the Model Law) the COMI of a debtor can move, the closer such COMI shift is to the commencement of foreign proceedings, the harder it will be to establish that the move was “ascertainable by third parties”.
- (d) None of the above.

Question 1.9

- (b) The UNCITRAL Guide of Enactment and the Legislative Guide – Parts One, Two, Three and Four.
- (c) The UNCITRAL Guide of Enactment and the Judicial Perspective.
- (d) All of the above.

QUESTION 2 (direct questions) [10 marks in total]

Question 2.1 [maximum 3 marks] 3 marks

Under the MLCBI, explain what the appropriate date is for determining the COMI of a debtor, or whether an establishment exists.

According to MLCBI the appropriate date for determining the COMI of a debtor, or whether an establishment exists is the date of commencement of the foreign proceeding. It’s important to note that in the US judgment of Morning Mist Holdings Ltd v Kryss, the US court understood that to determine the appropriate date it may be consider the period between the commencement of the foreign insolvency proceeding and the filing of the Chapter 15 petition. This period can ensure that debtor did not manipulate it’s COMI.

Also because sometimes a COMI of a debtor can move, and the court has to take care because if this COMI move happened to close to the commencement of the foreign proceedings, the appropriate evidence for this is harder to establish and can result in insecurity for third parties and creditors of the debtor.

Question 2.2 [maximum 3 marks] 2 marks

The following three (3) statements relate to particular provisions / concepts to be found in the Model Law. Indicate the name of the provision / concept (as well as the relevant Model Law article), addressed in each statement.

Statement 1 “This Article provides guidance in case of concurrence of two foreign non-main proceedings.”

Statement 2 “The rule in this Article does not affect secured claims.”

Statement 3 “This Article contains a rebuttable presumption in respect of an undefined key concept in the MLCBI.”

[Statement 1 is related to the concept of “concurrent foreign non-main proceedings”, found at Article 30(c) of the Model Law. It indicates that in case of two concurrent foreign non-main proceedings, the court must analyse, grant, modify or terminate relief in order to facilitate the co-ordination of the proceedings.

Statement 2 is related to the “hotchpot rule”, found at Article 32 of the Model Law. This rule aims to avoid situations that could incorrectly favour a creditor in relation to other creditor in the same class by obtaining payment of the same claim in insolvency proceedings in different jurisdictions. It’s important to note that the hotchpot rule does not affect the ranking of claims and just pretend to ensure that any creditor will be harmed.

Statement 3 is related to the “presumption of insolvency” concept, found at Article 31 of the Model Law. The rebuttable presumption of insolvency means that the place of the registered office of the debtor is the place of its COMI (which is the fundamental and undefined key concept in the Model Law). It’s important to note that this presumption only applies to the recognition of a foreign main proceeding, not for a foreign non-main proceeding. The correct answer is 16(3)

Question 2.3 [2 marks]

In the IBA case appeal, the English Court of Appeal upheld the decision that the court should not exercise its power to grant the indefinite Moratorium Continuation. Please explain.

[The IBA case is an interesting case that discuss the extent of the so-called “Gibbs Rule”, its application and exceptions. The Gibbs Rule states that, in England, discharge of a debt under the insolvency law of a foreign country is only treated as a discharge if it is a discharge under the law applicable to the contract. The Gibbs Rule exception happens when a relevant creditor submits to the foreign insolvency proceeding accepting that the law governing the foreign insolvency proceeding should determine the contractual rights. In IBA case, the English Court of Appeal upheld the decision in the court of the first instance focusing in a particular question related to jurisdiction, asking in in what sense it may be said that the English court lacked jurisdiction to grant the indefinite Moratorium Continuation requested by the foreign representative.

The court of Appeal understood that an English court could only keep granting the indefinite Moratorium Continuation if it were satisfied of two things – not satisfied on IBA case: (i) stay would have to be necessary to protect the interests of IBA’s creditors, and, (ii) the stay would have to be an appropriate way of achieving such protection. So, the court understood that IBA creditors needed no further protection for the foreign proceeding to achieve its purpose. It can be confirmed by Article 22 of Model Law, that mention the discretionary powers of the court in “Balancing Interests”, meaning that the court in the enacting State must know how to balance the relief that may be granted to the foreign representative and the interests of the other parties.

For full mark issue “2” of the following should be mentioned:

- According to the English Court of Appeal, the real issue was whether as a matter of settled practice the UK court should not exercise its power to grant the indefinite moratorium where to do so would (i) in substance prevent the English creditors (that is the Challenging Creditors) from enforcing their English law rights in accordance with the Gibbs Rule (“Issue 1”) and / or (ii) prolong the stay after the Azeri reconstruction has come to an end (“Issue 2”).
- In respect of each issue, the English Court of Appeal held that:
 1. Issue 1: The UK court would need to be convinced that (a) the indefinite stay is necessary to protect the interests of IBA’s creditors and (b) an indefinite stay is the appropriate way of achieving such protection. The factual evidence that can be brought before the court will ultimately decide Issue 1.
 2. Issue 2: Based on Article 18 of the MLCBI, the English Court of Appeal in the IBA case appeal held that had the MLCBI ever contemplated the continuance of relief after the end of the relevant foreign proceeding, it would have addressed the question explicitly and provided appropriate machinery for that purpose.

Question 2.4 [2 marks] 1 mark

In terms of relief, what should the court in an enacting State, where a domestic proceeding has already been opened in respect of the debtor, do after recognition of a foreign main proceeding? In your answer you should mention the most relevant article of the MLCBI. What (ongoing) duty of information does the foreign representative in the foreign main proceeding have towards the court in the enacting State? Here too you are required to mention the most relevant article of the MLCBI.

According to Article 20 of the Model Law (which is the most relevant article), the recognition of a foreign main proceeding results in three automatic effects, (a) a stay of the commencement or continuation of individual actions or individual proceedings concerning the debtor’s assets, rights, obligations or liabilities; (b) a stay of execution against the debtor’s assets; and (c) a suspension of the right to transfer, encumber or dispose of any assets of the debtor. However, these automatic effects does not prevent the court to modify or terminate the effects if the court understand that this effects can cause any damage to the interests of a party, including the debtor itself.

The correct answer is art. 29 (a) on concurrent proceedings

According to Article 18 of the Model Law (which is the most relevant article), when the foreign representative starts the foreign proceeding recognition application, he/she has the duty to inform the court in the enacting State in case of any change in the status of the proceeding and in case of becoming aware of any other foreign proceeding regarding the same debtor. It should be noted that the Judicial Perspective emphasises that the foreign representative has the continuing duty of disclosure of everything that happens or could happen on the foreign proceeding.

QUESTION 3 (essay-type questions) [15 marks in total]

A foreign representative of a foreign proceeding opened in State B in respect of a corporate debtor (the Debtor) is considering whether or not to make a recognition application under the implemented Model Law of State A (which does not contain any reciprocity provision). In addition, the foreign representative is also considering what (if any) relief may be appropriate to request from the court in State A.

Write a brief essay in which you address the three questions below.

Question 3.1 [maximum 4 marks] 1/5 marks

Prior to making a recognition application in State A, explain how access and co-ordination rights in State A can benefit the foreign representative?

[Access and co-ordination rights in the State A can benefit the foreign representative by accessing the courts of the enacting State, seeking alternatives to better and quickly remediate the insolvency concerns. Co-ordination will benefit the foreign representative among the jurisdictions to co-operate, to provide the grant of relief.

Access and co-operation are found mostly on the Articles 25-27 of the Model Law, filling gaps between courts and providing countries to reach better results for their insolvency problems.

They also help promoting consistency of treatment of stakeholders across different jurisdictions and avoid traditional procedures, such as letters rogatory and requests for consular assistance.

Article 27 states a non-exhaustive list of types of cooperation that are authorised by the Model Law, benefiting all the parties involved in the cross-border insolvency matters.

For full marks the following should also be included:

- Legal standing (Article 9 MLCBI): The key access for the foreign representative is set forth in Article 9 MLCBI. In the capacity of foreign representative, the foreign representative has automatically standing before the courts in State A without having to meet any formal requirements such as a license or any consular action. In other words, the “status” in State B of the foreign representative is automatically recognised in State A for the purpose of granting the foreign representative standing before the courts in State A. This allows the foreign representative to safeguard and pursue assets of the debtor estate in State A before its courts.
- Opening domestic insolvency proceedings (Article 11 MLCBI): The foreign representative is further specifically entitled to apply for the opening of domestic insolvency proceedings in State A, as reflected in Article 11 of the MLCBI. Whether or not the foreign representative would wish to do this will depend on what the requirements are for opening such domestic proceedings. Can these requirements be met? On the other hand, it will depend on what the foreign representative believes he/she can get in terms of (interim) relief for the foreign proceedings in State B. In other words, are domestic insolvency proceedings really needed, or just additional time and costs that should be avoided?
- Save Time & Costs: The key benefits of both the access provisions and the cooperation provisions are that they save time and therefore also costs, as a result of which value destruction can be avoided and value enhancement is being promoted.

Question 3.2 [maximum 5 marks] 1 mark

For a recognition application in State A to be successful, the foreign proceeding opened in State B must qualify as a “foreign proceeding” within the meaning of article 2(a) of the MLCBI and the “foreign representative” must qualify as a foreign representative within the meaning of article 2(d) of the MLCBI. Assuming both qualify as such, list and briefly explain (with reference to the relevant MLCBI articles) any other evidence, restrictions, exclusions and limitations that must be considered, as well as the judicial scrutiny that must be overcome for a recognition application to be successful.

[First of all, there are several elements to be filled for the correct recognition application, as stated on the Article 2 of the Model Law. For a qualified “foreign proceeding” it must meet (a) collective nature; (b) law related to insolvency; (c) subject to control or supervision by a foreign court, and (d) purpose of reorganisation or liquidation. For a qualified “foreign representative”, it must meet: (a) appointed authorised person or body; and (b) administer debtor’s assets or affairs or act as representative.

To facilitate the recognition process, it’s recommended to use the UNCITRAL Guide to Enactment, which specifies the required characteristics of the foreign proceeding and foreign representative to success on the recognition process.

There are also some rules that facilitates the recognition proceeding, as the so-called Safe Conduct Rule, provided in Article 10, ensuring that the court in the enacting State does not assume jurisdiction over all the assets of the debtor, and the Anti-discrimination principle, expressed in Article 13, stating that creditors have the same rights as creditors domiciled in the enacting State regarding the commencement of, and participation in, local proceedings regarding the debtor under the insolvency law of the enacting State.

It’s important to note that Paragraph 2 of Article 1 has some excluded situations for the recognition process, such as (i) banks and insurance companies, as they may require to be administered under a special regulatory regime; (ii) Public utility companies or consumers/non traders could, for policy reasons.

Although these proceedings are excluded from the application and recognition of the Model Law, the enacting State must carefully analyse the situation to avoid misunderstandings and avoid questions on denying recognition access. For that reason, Model Law advises that the exclusion elements must be expressly mentioned by the enacting State to make the national insolvency law more transparent.

For full marks on this question, the following should be addressed also:

1. Restrictions;- Existing international obligations of State A: Based on Article 3 of the Model Law, the court in State A should also check if there are no existing international obligations of State A (under a treaty or otherwise) that may conflict with granting the recognition application under the implemented Model Law in State A.
2. Sufficient evidence: Article 15 of the Model Law sets forth in paragraph 2 what evidence in respect of the commencement of the foreign proceedings and the appointment of the foreign representative must accompany the recognition application. A statement identifying all foreign proceedings in respect of the debtor that are known to the foreign representative must also accompany the recognition application (Article 15(3) of the Model Law).
3. Judicial scrutiny: While the court in State A is able to rely on the rebuttable presumptions set forth in Article 16 of the Model Law, in the context of Article 17 of the Model Law the court will have to assess whether either the COMI or at least an establishment of the debtor is located in State B where the foreign proceedings were opened. If the COMI of the debtor is in State B the foreign proceedings should be recognised as foreign main proceedings and if only an establishment of the debtor is in State B the foreign proceedings should be recognised as foreign non-main proceedings. Without a COMI or at least an establishment of the debtor in State B, recognition cannot be granted by the court in State A.

4. Public policy exception: Finally, the court in State A should also ensure based on Article 6 of the Model Law that the recognition application is not manifestly contrary to public policy of State A.

Question 3.3 [maximum 5 marks] 2 marks

As far as relief is concerned, briefly explain (with reference to the relevant MLCBI articles) what pre- and post-recognition relief can be considered in the context of the MLCBI, as well as any restrictions, limitations or conditions that should be considered in this context. For purposes of this question, it can be assumed that there is no concurrence of proceedings.

[Articles 19-21 of the Model Law explains the different reliefs that can be grant depending on the situation.

Article 19 is the “Interim collective relief prior to recognition of a foreign proceeding”, Where relief is urgently needed to protect the assets of the debtor, or the interests of the creditors grant relief of a provisional nature from the time of filing the recognition application until the application is decided upon. It applies to foreign main and foreign non-main proceedings. Paragraph 2 of Article 19 allows the State/court to include a condition or a refuse for the interim relief, if, for example, it would interfere with the administration of a foreign main proceeding.

Article 20 is the “Automatic relief just when a foreign main proceeding is recognised”. It has three automatic effects that enable organising the insolvency proceeding: (a) a stay of the commencement or continuation of individual actions or individual proceedings concerning the debtor’s assets, rights, obligations, or liabilities; (b) a stay of execution against the debtor’s assets; and (c) a suspension of the right to transfer, encumber or otherwise dispose of any assets of the debtor. This Article also establishes a mandatory limitation to the effectiveness of an arbitration agreement, and paragraph 2 of Article 20 allows the court to the authority to modify or terminate the automatic relief if it would be contrary to legitimate interests of a party in interest.

Article 21 provides the “Appropriate relief” that can be the recognition of a foreign main or non-main proceeding and provides the court with the discretionary power to protect the assets of the debtor or the interest of creditors to grant appropriate relief. It’s important to note thar when the relief is granted to a foreign representative of a foreign non-main proceeding, the court must certificate that the relief should be administered in the foreign non-main so that the relief should not interfere with the administration of another insolvency proceeding, in particular, the main proceeding.

For full marks, the following should also be addressed:

1. Adequate protection: Pursuant to Article 22 of the Model Law any interim relief under Article 19 of he Model Law or any post-recognition relief under Article 21 of the Model Law require the court in State A to be satisfied that the interests of the creditors and the other interested persons, including the debtor, are adequately protected and any relief may be subject to conditions as the court considers appropriate.
2. Existing international obligations of State A: Based on Article 3 of the Model Law, the court in State A should again verify that there are no existing international obligations of

- State A (under a treaty or otherwise) that may conflict with granting the requested relief under the implemented Model Law in State A.
3. Public policy exception: The court in State A should, based on Article 6 of the Model Law, also again verify that the relief application is not manifestly contrary to public policy of State A.

Question 3.4 [maximum 1 mark] 1 mark

Briefly explain why a worldwide freezing order granted as pre-recognition interim relief ex article 19 MLCBI, is unlikely to continue post-recognition ex article 21 MLCBI?

[The relief granted on Article 19 of the Model Law is related to urgently needs to protect the assets of the debtor or the interests of the creditors When the recognition proceeding is still on the application process. That's why it is called the "interim" relief. While the Article 21, on the other hand, provides relief only for foreign proceedings after the recognition proceeding. By this moment, the court in the enacting State has the discretionary power to grant the necessary actions to protect the assets of the debtor or the interest of creditors, granting the adequate and the appropriate relief in wide and individual way.

QUESTION 4 (fact-based application-type question) [15 marks in total]

Read the following facts very carefully before answering the questions that follow.

(1) Background

The Commercial Bank for Business Corporation (the Bank) has operated since 1991. The Bank's registered office is situated in Country A, which has not adopted the MLCBI. As of 13 August 2015, the Bank's majority ultimate beneficial owner was Mr Z, who held approximately 95% of the Bank's shares through various corporate entities (including some registered in England).

The Bank entered provisional administration on 17 September 2015 and liquidation on 17 December 2015. Investigations into the Bank have revealed that it appears to have been potentially involved in a multi-million dollar fraud resulting in monies being sent to many overseas companies, including entities incorporated and registered in England.

Proceedings were issued in the High Court of England and Wales (Chancery Division) against various defendants on 11 February 2021 (the English Proceedings).

An affidavit (the Affidavit) sets out a detailed summary of the legislation of Country A's specific insolvency procedure for Banks. The procedure involves initial input from the National Bank (the NB) and at the time that the Bank entered liquidation, followed a number of stages:

Classification of the bank as troubled

The NB may classify a bank as "troubled" if it meets at least one of the criteria set down by article 75 of the Law of Country A on Banks and Banking Activity (LBBA) or for any of the reasons specified in its regulations.

Once declared "troubled", the relevant bank has 180 days within which to bring its activities in line with the NB's requirements. At the end of that period, the NB must either recognise the Bank as compliant, or must classify it as insolvent.

Classification of the bank as insolvent

The NB is obliged to classify a bank as insolvent if it meets the criteria set out in article 76 of the LBBA, which includes:

- (i) the bank's regulatory capital amount or standard capital ratios have reduced to one third of the minimum level specified by law;
- (ii) within five consecutive working days, the bank has failed to meet 2% or more of its obligations to depositors or creditors; and
- (iii) the bank, having been declared as troubled, then fails to comply with an order or decision of the NB and / or a request by the NB to remedy violations of the banking law.

The NB has the ability to classify a bank as insolvent without necessarily needing to first go through the troubled stage. Article 77 of the LBBA accordingly provides that a bank can be liquidated by the NB directly, revoking its licence.

Provisional administration

The Deposit Guarantee Fund (DGF) is a governmental body of Country A tasked principally with providing deposit insurance to bank depositors in Country A. However, the Affidavit explained that the DGF is also responsible for the process of withdrawing insolvent banks from the market and winding down their operations via liquidation. Its powers include those related to early detection and intervention, and the power to act in a bank's interim or provisional administration and its ultimate liquidation.

Pursuant to article 34 of the DGF Law, once a bank has been classified as insolvent, the DGF will begin the process of removing it from the market. This is often achieved with an initial period of provisional administration. During this period:

- (i) the DGF (acting via an authorised officer) begins the process of directly administering the bank's affairs. Articles 35(5) and 36(1) of the DGF Law provide that during provisional administration, the DGF shall have full and exclusive rights to manage the bank and all powers of the bank's management.
- (ii) Article 36(5) establishes a moratorium which prevents, inter alia: the claims of depositors or creditors being satisfied; execution or enforcement against the bank's assets; encumbrances and restrictions being created over the bank's property; and interest being charged.

Liquidation

Liquidation follows provisional administration. The DGF is obliged to commence liquidation proceedings against a bank on or before the next working day after the NB's decision to revoke the bank's licence.

Article 77 of the LBBA provides that the DGF automatically becomes liquidator of a bank on the date it receives confirmation of the NB's decision to revoke the bank's licence. At that point, the DGF acquires the full powers of a liquidator under the law of Country A.

When the bank enters liquidation, all powers of the bank's management and control bodies are terminated (as are the provisional administrators' powers if the bank is first in provisional administration); all banking activities are terminated; all money liabilities due to the bank are deemed to become due; and, among other things, the DGF alienates the bank's property and funds. Public encumbrances and restrictions on disposal of bank property are terminated and offsetting of counter-claims is prohibited.

As liquidator, the DGF has extensive powers, including the power to investigate the bank's history and bring claims against parties believed to have caused its downfall. Those powers include:

- (i) the power to exercise management powers and take over management of the property (including the money) of the bank;
- (ii) the power to compile a register of creditor claims and to seek to satisfy those claims;
- (iii) the power to take steps to find, identify and recover property belonging to the bank;
- (iv) the power to dismiss employees and withdraw from/terminate contracts;
- (v) the power to dispose of the bank's assets; and
- (vi) the power to exercise "such other powers as are necessary to complete the liquidation of a bank".

The DGF also has powers of sale, distribution and the power to bring claims for compensation against persons for harm inflicted on the insolvent bank.

However, article 48(3) of the DGF Law empowers the DGF to delegate its powers to an "authorised officer" or "authorised person". The "Fund's authorised person" is defined by article 2(1)(17) of the DGF Law as: "an employee of the Fund, who on behalf of the Fund and within the powers provided for by this Law and / or delegated by the Fund, performs actions to ensure the bank's withdrawal from the market during provisional administration of the insolvent bank and/or bank liquidation".

Article 35(1) of the DGF Law specifies that an authorised person, must have: "...high professional and moral qualities, impeccable business reputation, complete higher education in the field of economics, finance or law...and professional experience necessary." An authorised person may not be a creditor of the relevant bank, have a criminal record, have any obligations to the relevant bank, or have any conflict of interest with the bank. Once appointed, the authorised officer is accountable to the DGF for their actions and may exercise the powers delegated to them by the DGF in pursuance of the bank's liquidation.

The DGF's independence is addressed at articles 3(3) and 3(7) of the DGF Law which confirm that it is an economically independent institution with separate balance sheet and accounts from the NB and that neither public authorities nor the NB have any right to interfere in the exercise of its functions and powers.

Article 37 establishes that the DGF (or its authorised person, insofar as such powers are delegated) has extensive powers, including powers to exercise managerial and supervisory powers, to enter into contracts, to restrict or terminate the bank's transactions, and to file property and non-property claims with a court.

(2) The Bank's liquidation

The Bank was formally classified by the NB as "troubled" on 19 January 2015. The translated NB resolution records:

“The statistical reports-based analysis of the Bank’s compliance with the banking law requirements has found that the Bank has been engaged in risky operations.”

Those operations included:

- (i) a breach, for eight consecutive reporting periods, of the NB’s minimum capital requirements;
- (ii) 10 months of loss-making activities;
- (iii) a reduction in its holding of highly liquid assets;
- (iv) a critically low balance of funds held with the NB; and
- (v) 48% of the Bank’s liabilities being dependent on individuals and a significant increase in “adversely classified assets” which are understood to be loans, whose full repayment has become questionable.

Despite initially appearing to improve, by September 2015 the Bank’s financial position had deteriorated further with increased losses, a further reduction in regulatory capital and numerous complaints to the NB. On 17 September 2015, the NB classified the Bank as insolvent pursuant to article 76 of the LBBA. On the same day, the DGF passed a resolution commencing the process of withdrawing the Bank from the market and appointing Ms C as interim administrator.

Three months later, on 17 December 2015, the NB formally revoked the Bank’s banking licence and resolved that it be liquidated. The following day, the DGF initiated the liquidation procedure and appointed Ms C as the first of the DGF’s authorised persons to whom powers of the liquidator were delegated. Ms C was replaced as authorised officer with effect from 17 August 2020 by Ms G.

Ms G’s appointment was pursuant to a Decision of the Executive Board of the Directors of the DGF, No 1513 (Resolution 1513). Resolution 1513 notes that Ms G is a “leading bank liquidation professional”. It delegates to her all liquidation powers in respect of the Bank set out in the DGF Law and in particular articles 37, 38, 47-52, 521 and 53 of the DGF Law, including the authority to sign all agreements related to the sale of the bank’s assets in the manner prescribed by the DGF Law. Resolution 1513 expressly excludes from Ms G’s authority the power to claim damages from a related party of the Bank, the power to make a claim against a non-banking financial institution that raised money as loans or deposits from individuals, and the power to arrange for the sale of the Bank’s assets. Each of the excluded powers remains vested in the DGF as the Bank’s formally appointed liquidator.

On 14 December 2020, the Bank’s liquidation was extended to an indefinite date, described as arising when circumstances rendered the sale of the Bank’s assets and satisfaction of creditor’s claims, no longer possible.

On 7 September 2020, the DGF resolved to approve an amended list of creditors’ claims totalling approximately USD 1.113 billion. The Affidavit states that the Bank’s current, estimated deficiency exceeds USD 823 million.

QUESTION 4.1 [maximum 15 marks] 4,5 marks

Prior to any determination made in the English Proceedings, Ms G, in her capacity as authorised officer of the Deposit Guarantee Fund (or DGF) of Country A in respect of the liquidation of the Commercial Bank for Business Corporation (the Bank), together with the DGF (the Applicants), applied for recognition of the liquidation of the Bank before the English court based on the Cross-Border Insolvency Regulations 2006 (CBIR), the English adopted version of the MLCBI.

Assuming you are the judge in the English court considering this recognition application, you are required to discuss:

- 4.1.1 whether the Bank's liquidation comprises a "foreign proceeding" within the meaning of article 2(a) of the MLCBI [maximum 10 marks]; 1,5 mark and
- 4.1.2 whether the Applicants fall within the description of "foreign representatives" as defined by article 2(d) of the MLCBI [maximum 5 marks]. 3 marks

While not all facts provided in the fact pattern for this question (Question 4) are immediately relevant for your answer, please do use, where appropriate, those relevant facts that directly support your answer.

For the purpose of this question, you may further assume that the Bank is not excluded from the scope of the MLCBI by article 1(2) of the MLCBI.

Considering the point that the Bank is not excluded from the scope of Model Law, I think that the Bank's liquidation comprises, at least, the 4 "foreign proceeding" elements. In the Model Law, the elements that a foreign proceeding must meet to compromise are (i) Collective nature; (ii) Law related to insolvency; (iii) Subject to control or supervision by a foreign court; and (iv) Purpose of reorganisation or liquidation.

These are present elements on the Bank's liquidation process. As we can see, (i) for Collective nature element, it's clear that, as a Bank, it provides services to people, employees/creditors, that have been stated on the NB report on "48% of the Bank's liabilities being dependent on individuals", concluding that it's a collective proceeding; collectivity refers to the proceeding, see below (ii) for Law related to insolvency element, it is clear that the Bank went through a specifically liquidation law proceeding, being classified as "troubled" from NB and starting the liquidation by DGF, filling the liquidation criteria set down by several article of the Law of Country A, on Banks and Banking Activity (LBBA), as bank liquidation.

For the third element, (iii), Subject to control or supervision by a foreign court, we can see that it is present, when investigations into the Bank have revealed that "it appears to have been potentially involved in a multi-million dollar fraud resulting in monies being sent to many overseas companies, including entities incorporated and registered in England". Again, this court supervision refers to the proceeding – if the insolvency proceeding as such is court supervised.

For the (iv) Purpose of reorganisation or liquidation element as seeing above, it is meet, when we can conclude that the NB classified the Bank as insolvent pursuant to article 76 of the LBBA.

This answer entails some misunderstandings. For full marks on the question, the following should be addressed:

- 1. In order to be recognised, the Bank's liquidation must meet the definition of "foreign proceeding" set out in article 2(a) of the MCBI.

2. Here reference can also Be made to paragraphs 6.4.1 and 6.4.2 of the Guidance Text and in particular the Agrokor case discussed there.

“Collective proceeding”

3. UNCITRAL’s guide for judiciary, “The Model Law on Insolvency: The Judicial Perspective” (2013) explains the requirement for proceedings to be “collective”:

“The UNCITRAL Model Law was intended to apply only to particular types of insolvency proceedings. The Guide to Enactment and Interpretation indicates that the notion of a “collective” insolvency proceeding is based on the desirability of achieving a coordinated, global solution for all stakeholders of an insolvency proceeding. It is not intended that the Model Law be used merely as a collection device for a particular creditor or group of creditors who might have initiated a collection proceeding in another State, or as a tool for gathering up assets in a winding up or conservation proceeding that does not also include provision for addressing the claims of creditors. The Model Law may be an appropriate tool for certain kinds of actions that serve a regulatory purpose, such as receiverships for such publicly regulated entities as insurance companies or brokerage firms, provided the proceeding is collective as that term is used in the Model Law.”

4. The Guide to Enactment and Interpretation of the UNCITRAL Model Law (2014) explains that when:

“evaluating whether a given proceeding is collective for the purpose of the Model Law, a key consideration is whether substantially all of the assets and liabilities of the debtor are dealt with in the proceeding, subject to local priorities and statutory exceptions, and to local exclusions relating to the rights of secured creditors. A proceeding should not be considered to fail the test of collectivity purely because a class of creditors’ rights is unaffected by it.”

5. Based on the facts provided the understanding is that all of the Bank’s creditors are entitled to claim in the liquidation and that their claims are met from available assets, according to the statutory order of priorities. Consequently, the conclusion can be reached that the Bank’s liquidation is a “collective proceeding”.

“Judicial or administrative” and “subject to the control or supervision by a foreign court”

6. The collective proceeding, must be “judicial or administrative” where “the assets and affairs or the debtor are subject to control or supervision by a foreign court”.
7. The term “foreign court” is defined at article 2(e) of the MLCBI and means: “a judicial or other authority competent to control or supervise a foreign proceeding”.
8. The Guide to Enactment notes: “87) A foreign proceeding that meets the requisites of article 2, subparagraph (a), should receive the same treatment irrespective of whether it has been commenced and supervised by a judicial body or an administrative body. Therefore, in order to obviate the need to refer to a foreign non-judicial authority whenever reference is made to a foreign court, the definition of “foreign court” in subparagraph (e) includes also non-judicial authorities.”
9. In Re Sanko Steamship Co Ltd [2015] EWHC 1031 (Ch) Simon Barker QC, noted that a foreign proceeding may be recognised where the control or supervision of the proceeding is undertaken by a non-judicial administrative body.
10. The Guide to Enactment states: “74) The Model Law specifies neither the level of control or supervision required to satisfy this aspect of the definition nor the time at which that control or supervision should arise. Although it is intended that the control or supervision required under subparagraph (a) should be formal in nature, it may be potential rather than actual. As noted in paragraph 71, a proceeding in which the debtor retains some measure of control over its assets, albeit under court supervision, such as a debtor-in-possession would satisfy this requirement. Control or supervision may be exercised not only directly by the court but also by an insolvency representative where, for example, the insolvency representative is subject to control or supervision by the court. Mere supervision of an insolvency representative by a licensing authority would not be sufficient.”

11. In this case the DGF has control of all of the Bank’s assets and overall control of the liquidation.
12. The DGF’s independence is addressed at articles 3(3) and 3(7) of the DGF Law which confirm that it is an economically independent institution with separate balance sheet and accounts from the NB and that neither public authorities nor the NB have any right to interfere in the exercise of its functions and powers.
13. Article 37 establishes that the DGF (or its authorised person, insofar as such powers are delegated) has extensive powers, including powers to exercise managerial and supervisory powers, to enter into contracts, to restrict or terminate the bank’s transactions, and to file property and non-property claims with a court.
14. Taking these factors into account, the Bank’s liquidation is administrative. The assets and affairs of the Bank are subject to the control of the DGF, an official body which exercises its powers in the liquidation free from intervention by government or the NB and which should be considered, for the purposes of the definition set out in article 2(e) of the MLCBI, as a “foreign court”.

“Pursuant to a law relating to insolvency”

15. The Guide to Enactment provides at paragraph 48:

“Acknowledging that different jurisdictions might have different notions of what falls within the term “insolvency proceedings”, the Model Law does not define the term “insolvency”. However, as used in the Model Law, the word “insolvency” refers to various types of collective proceedings commenced with respect to debtors that are in severe financial distress or insolvent.”

- Further explanation is provided at paragraph 73:

“This formulation is used in the Model Law to acknowledge the fact that liquidation and reorganization might be conducted under law that is not labelled as insolvency law (e.g. company law), but which nevertheless deals with or addresses insolvency or severe financial distress. The purpose was to find a description that was sufficiently broad to encompass a range of insolvency rules irrespective of the type of statute or law in which they might be contained and irrespective of whether the law that contained the rules related exclusively to insolvency.”

16. Article 76 of the LBBA clearly set out Country A’s specific insolvency procedures for insolvent banks. The Bank’s liquidation was commenced pursuant to those provisions and in my judgment should be considered by this Court as being “pursuant to a law relating to insolvency”.

“In which proceeding the assets and affairs of the debtor are subject to control or supervision by a foreign court, for the purpose of reorganisation or liquidation”

17. Having determined that the DGF falls within the definition of “foreign court”, I am satisfied, that by virtue of the legislative provisions set out above, it has control of all of the Bank’s assets and affairs for the purposes of administering the Bank’s liquidation.

To be qualified as “foreign representative” on the Model Law, the representative needs to meet the following elements: (i) appointed authorised person or body; and (ii) administer debtor’s assets or affairs or act as representative.

The first requirement is filled, because DGF initiated the liquidation procedure and, initially appointed Ms C as the first of the DGF’s authorised persons to whom powers of the liquidator were delegated, then after Ms C was replaced by Ms G, which appointment was pursuant to a Decision of the Executive Board of the Directors of the DGF.

For the second element, it is only partially filled, considering that the DGF Resolution no. 1513 states that Ms G the nominate person has all liquidation powers in respect of the Bank set out in the DGF Law and in particular articles 37, 38, 47-52, 521 and 53 of the DGF Law, including the authority to sign all agreements related to the sale of the bank’s assets in the manner prescribed by the DGF Law.

However, despite the Model Law doesn’t specify that the foreign representative must be authorised by the foreign court, the DGF Resolution no. 1513 doesn’t allow her, as a representative, the power to claim damages from a related party of the Bank, the power to make a claim against a non-banking financial institution that raised money as loans or deposits from individuals, and regarding the Model Law, the power to arrange for the sale of the Bank’s assets. Each of the excluded powers remains vested in the DGF as the Bank’s formally appointed liquidator.

In this manner, Ms G is only authorized to sign agreements related to the sale of the bank’s assets but is not authorized to arrange and manage them.

The lack of power to administer debtor’s assets it’s an obstacle for Ms G to be recognized as a “foreign representative”, for the Model Law. The court maybe could have some positive interpretation to accept her, considering her personal quality of “leading bank liquidation professional”. But the DGF Resolution is very clear on the powers that was or not authorized.

It should be discussed, if partial powers could be enough and also what the split of powers does for the status as foreign representative of DGF also. Also, it should be discussed that DGF as a “body” can be a foreign representative.
