QUESTION 2 (direct questions) [10 marks]

Question 2.1 [maximum 2 marks]

Explain what the term "international insolvency law" means.

[A set of rules in respect of insolvency procedures or measures which must have regard to other jurisdictions and their individual rules in order to seek to enforce given the international aspect of a case.]

More detail would have improved the mark awarded for this sub-question.

1.5

Question 2.2 [maximum 5 marks]

Differentiate between the concepts of universality and territoriality in cross-border insolvency.

[The concept of universality is that a debtors debts and worldwide assets should be dealt with a single insolvency proceeding, this would in theory allow all worldwide creditors to be on an equal footing. In contrast, territorialism is the principle that individual insolvency proceedings should be commenced in each jurisdiction where the debtors has assets, creditors in the jurisdiction that assets are located may file their claim in the local proceedings.]

There is scope to elaborate with respect to recognition and effect in that for example, with universalism, recognition and effect requires that other States recognise that one set insolvency proceedings (that all agreed is the appropriate jurisdiction) and recognise it as having extraterritorial effect in their States.

Question 2.3 [maximum 3 marks]

Describe three recent examples of developments in the Middle East region to reform domestic insolvency laws or to address international insolvency Issues.

QUESTION 3 (essay-type questions) [15 marks in total]

Question 3.1 [maximum 5 marks]

Write a brief note on the differences regarding the objectives of insolvency for individuals and corporations.

[One of the main differences between the objectives of individuals and corporations is that some systems allow for individuals to have excluded assets, in other words individuals do not have all their assets frozen as some systems recognise that the individual requires resources to maintain themselves financially. A further difference is that at the end of bankruptcy proceedings companies are usually dissolved, natural living persons cannot be dissolved.]

There is some scope to elaborate

3.5

Question 3.2 [maximum 5 marks]

Write a brief note on the difficulties that may be encountered when dealing with insolvency law in a cross-border context relating to pertinent differences in the relevant systems.

[In the absence of a uniform worldwide insolvency rules there is a risk of duplicated proceedings in involving the same debtor, these are not always harmonious with each other and can result in the loss of capital where they clash such as where one system is more pro debtor and the other is pro-creditor or where one system is perusing winding up or liquidation and the other is seeking restructuring.]

Further detail would be beneficial. For example, consideration of Westbrook's 9 key issues.

Question 3.3 [maximum 5 marks]

What multilateral steps have been taken in the 21st century to promote harmonisation of domestic insolvency laws? In your opinion, how much impact are these likely to have in addressing international insolvency issues? Include reasons for your opinion.

[The Legislative Guide on Insolvency Law was a promoted by the UNCITRAL in 2004, the purpose of this guide was to assist national authorities when reviewing existing laws or drafting new laws, in the 2000s the World Bank introduced their guide, titled Principles for effective Insolvency and Creditors / Debtor Regimes, this has been updated several times, the last update was in April 2021. The European Union (EU) has sought to harmonise domestic insolvency within the EU member states since 2010. In my view the impact the above guides to harmonise domestic law will very much depend on the appetite of the domestic states. It will further depend on the pace it takes to implement the changes. Of course harmonisation is a good thing if it can be implemented.]

There is scope to consider political pressure, foreign investor pressure and/or loan conditions.
