ANSWER ALL THE QUESTIONS

QUESTION 1 (multiple-choice questions) [10 marks in total]

Questions 1.1. – 1.10. are multiple-choice questions designed to assess your ability to think critically about the subject. Please read each question carefully before reading the answer options. Be aware that some questions may seem to have more than one right answer, but you are to look for the one that makes the most sense and is the most correct. When you have a clear idea of the question, find your answer and mark your selection on the answer sheet by highlighting the relevant paragraph in yellow. Select only ONE answer. Candidates who select more than one answer will receive no mark for that specific question.

Question 1.1

Civil Law and English (Common) Law countries have the same historical roots. Select from the following the best response to this statement.

(a) This statement is untrue because English Insolvency Law developed from Roman law principles, and Civil Law Systems were based on the statute of Marlborough of 1267.

(b) This statement is untrue since Civil Law developed from early Roman law principles relating to debt recovery and English Insolvency Law developed via legislation, especially from the 16th century onwards.

(c) This statement is true since, on a principle basis, the developments of insolvency law as a system is the same in all systems.

(d) The statement is true since both systems developed from a pro debtor approach towards the notion of over-indebtedness.

Question 1.2

Both Civil Law and English Law systems in general allowed for a rather liberal discharge of debt for over-indebted debtors right from the inception of these systems. Select from the following the best response to this statement.

(a) This statement is untrue since in both systems the notion of discharge only developed at a later stage.

(b) This statement is true since in both systems insolvency and rehabilitation procedures developed with discharge as a way of departure.

(c) This statement is untrue since discharge of debt never became part of any of these systems.

(d) This statement is true since creditors in both systems had an accommodative approach towards over-indebted debtors.

Question 1.3

England and America each have their own single unified piece of insolvency legislation which apply to both personal and corporate insolvency. Select from the following the best response to this statement.

(a) This statement is true since England has the unified 1986 Insolvency Act and the USA has the 1978 Bankruptcy Code. Both Acts cover personal and corporate insolvency.

(b) This statement is untrue since in England the Insolvency Act 1986 deals only with personal insolvency.

(c) This statement is untrue because the USA has separate Acts dealing with corporate liquidation and rescue.

(d) The statement is true since in England its companies' legislation deals with corporate insolvency and rescue.

Question 1.4

There are no good reasons to distinguish between insolvency rules pertaining to individuals (consumers, natural person debtors, also referred to as personal insolvency) and those insolvency rules applying to corporations or companies since in both instances the applicable insolvency rules are intrinsically collective in nature. Select from the following the best response to this statement.

(a) The statement is true since global insolvency law systems provide exactly the same rules to cover all aspects of insolvency in both instances, ie personal insolvency and corporate insolvency.

(b) The statement is untrue since there are pertinent differences in the treatment of certain aspects in insolvency of an individual and that of a company, like the fact that individuals are not "dissolved' after their estate assets have been liquidated as is the case once the assets of a company have been liquidated and it is finally wound up.

(c) The statement is untrue since insolvency law rules are not collective in nature.

(d) The statement is true since insolvent companies usually survive their liquidation and may continue to conduct business after the debt has been discharged through the liquidation process.

Question 1.5

All countries have one and the same set of rules to apply in the case of recognition of a foreign insolvency order. Select from the following the best response to this statement.

(a) The statement is untrue since the systems differ and some countries have no formal cross-border insolvency rules in place at all.

(b) This statement is true because all member states of the UN have adopted the UNCITRAL Model Law on Cross-Border Insolvency.

(c) This statement is true because the UNCITRAL Model Law on Cross-Border Insolvency applies directly to all UN member States.

(d) This statement is true since the International Court of Justice has a set of global cross-border insolvency principles that apply globally.

Question 1.6

The domestic corporate insolvency laws of a particular country make no mention of the possibility of a foreign element in a liquidation commenced locally. There is also no locally applicable treaty or convention on insolvency proceedings in place.

In a local liquidation commenced in that country, to what other area of domestic law can the local court refer in order to resolve an insolvency related international law issue that has arisen because of concurrent insolvency proceedings over the same debtor in a different country?

(a) Public International Law.

(b) UNCITRAL Legislative Guide on Insolvency Law.

(c) World Bank Principles for Effective Insolvency and Creditor Rights Systems.

(d) Private International Law.

Question 1.7

Private international law raises questions of the conclusive effect of a foreign judgment and the enforcement of a foreign judgment. A German court has issued a judgment in a German insolvency which has a connection with England. The foreign insolvency office holder seeks recognition and enforcement in an English court of the insolvency order made in the German insolvency proceedings.

Which of the following statements, concerning the request for recognition and enforcement in England, is true?

(a) The English Court hearing the request for recognition and enforcement may apply the EU Recast Insolvency Regulation (2015).

(b) It is relevant factor for the English Court hearing the matter to consider whether Germany has adopted the UNCITRAL Model Law on Cross-border Insolvency 1997, or not.

(c) The English Court will be able to consider the request based on its 2006 Insolvency Regulations (the adopted UNCITRAL Model Law on Cross-Border Insolvency) and / or common law principles.

(d) The German order will be automatically recognised in England due to a cross-border insolvency treaty between England and Germany.

Question 1.8

Which of the following best describes international insolvency law?

(a) It is public international law governing insolvency law between States.

(b) It is private international law governing insolvency law between States.

(c) It may involve aspects of both public international law and private international law.

(d) It involves a simple classification within either public international law or private international law.

Question 1.9

To date, the most successful soft law approach to international insolvency law issues has been the Model Law on Cross-border Insolvency. Select from the following the best response to this statement.

(a) This statement is untrue because not all States have adopted the Model Law on Cross-border Insolvency.

(b) This statement is untrue because of the requirement for reciprocity in relation to the Model Law on Cross-border Insolvency.

(c) This statement is true because the Model Law on Cross-border Insolvency creates regulations which binds each State and has been the most influential response to international insolvency law issues.

(d) This statement is true because the Model Law on Cross-border Insolvency has been adopted by numerous States and is gaining momentum as an influential response to international insolvency law issues.

Question 1.10

Latin American States have some of the most long-lasting multilateral agreements regarding international insolvency issues. Select from the following the best response to this statement.

(a) This statement is untrue because the Bustamante Code was concluded in 1928, which was only a few years before the Nordic Convention of 1933.

(b) This statement is untrue because North America was not a party to these agreements.

(c) This statement is true because agreements such as the Escazú Agreement have been extremely long lasting.

(d) This statement is true because of agreements such as the Montevideo Treaties and Havana Convention on Private International Law.

QUESTION 2 (direct questions) [10 marks]

Question 2.1 [maximum 3 marks]

Briefly indicate the historical roots of the various insolvency law systems to be found in African jurisdictions.

The African jurisdictions predominantly follow the laws of their respective former colonial countries. Therefore, the various insolvency law systems can be mostly traced to the following three legal systems: the English Legal System, the Civil Law tradition in Portuguese Law or the Civil Law tradition from France.
For example, Nigeria, Kenya, Botswana and Zambia follow English Law tradition; Angola and Mozambique follow Portuguese Law tradition and the former French colonies follow the civil law traditions of France.
Some countries like South Africa and Namibia follow a mixed system due to a common influence from both English and Civil Law traditions.

Question 2.2 [maximum 3 marks]

Indicate what important events and / or developments gave rise to some insolvency law reform in Eastern Asia and provide two examples of such reform initiatives.

1997-1998 Financial Crisis destabilised the East Asian economy. This led to significant insolvency reform in Eastern Asia countries like Indonesia and Thailand. Another recent development is the rise of Singapore as a major economic regional player. The two examples of such initiatives are: the insolvency reforms in Indonesia and Thailand, and enactment of Restructuring and Dissolution Act in Singapore.

There is scope for elaboration

Question 2.3 [maximum 4 marks]

Briefly indicate the various initiatives undertaken to assist with the resolution of international insolvency issues between North America and Canada and the success or otherwise of these initiatives.

The various initiatives to assist with the resolution of international insolvency issues between North America and Canada can be broadly listed as follows:

a. Adoption of Model Law
b. Approval of Cross-Border Court-to-Court Protocol by the US and Canadian Courts in In re:) Chapter 11) NORTEL NETWORKS, INC., et al.
c. Bilateral co-operation and co-ordination based on existing legislation and long-standing case law around comity
d. Principles of Cooperation among the NAFTA Countries

These initiatives have been successful as they have increased cooperation within the countries and formalised the process of recognition of bankruptcy proceedings initiated in different one NAFTA country in another NAFTA country

There is scope to elaborate. While the question says 'briefly' it is for 4 marks.

QUESTION 3 (essay-type questions) [15 marks in total]

Question 3.1 [maximum 5 marks]

It is said that one of the difficulties in designing a proper cross-border insolvency dispensation is the fact that domestic insolvency laws and approaches towards insolvency in various jurisdictions are not the same and in fact sometimes differ vastly. Discuss the possible historical reasons for the difference in approaches regarding the treatment of voidable dispositions, given the way such rules developed in English law and civil law jurisdictions respectively. In your answer you must provide a context or framework for the treatment of these rules in insolvency systems and indicate why these rules are important in insolvency.

One of the possible historical reasons for the difference in approach regarding the treatment of voidable dispositions in English law and civil law can be traced to their origins. In civil law jurisdictions, the voidable disposition can be traced to actio Pauliana whereas, in English Law jurisdictions, it can be traced to the Act of Elizabeth of 1570.

The rules related to voidable dispositions are important in insolvency as they help in analysing the affairs of debtors which led to insolvency or bankruptcy. The detection of such dispositions helps in upholding the interest of creditors in following ways:

- (i) Prevention of fraud
- (ii) Equitable treatment of similarly placed creditors
- (iii) Prevention of sudden loss of value of debtor's assets just before the commencement of insolvency proceedings
- (iv) Encouraging workable settlements

This question required you to discuss the nature/framework of voidable transactions and why they are important. Greater discussion of importance was necessary and you needed to discuss context/framework and the nature of voidable transactions themselves.

Question 3.2 [maximum 5 marks]

A Dutch commentator on international insolvency law defines international insolvency law as that part of the law that:

> "[i]s commonly described in international literature as a body of rules concerning certain insolvency proceedings or measures, which cannot be fully enforced, because the applicable law cannot be executed immediately and exclusively without consideration being given to the international aspect of a given case."

However, the author concedes that this definition has limitations. Briefly discuss the reasons why the definition is perceived to have limitations.

The main reason this definition is perceived to have limitations is its connection with the existence of a national legal framework of insolvency law. In this globalised age, the business and trade world is more connected than ever. The corporations work across borders and therefore the legal system of one particular country cannot deal with the insolvency proceedings of a debtor whose business spans across countries.

Such a framework also leads to multiple insolvency proceedings in different jurisdictions and results in competition and discrimination between creditors in different countries. This also results in forum shopping and fraudulent initiation of insolvency proceedings.

There is scope to elaborate.

Question 3.3 [maximum 5 marks]

Briefly discuss treaties or conventions as a source for cross-border insolvency law. In your answer you should also indicate if these are viewed as a successful way in establishing such rules by providing examples in this regard.

Once a State signs and ratifies a treaty or convention, it becomes binding on them. Thus, it can be considered as State's "hard law" on insolvency.
Treaties have been quite successful in establishing cross-border insolvency law. For example, The Montevideo Treaties (1889) and (1940) and Havana Convention on Private International Law (1928) (Bustamante Code) have been successful as it provides for one set of insolvency proceedings if the debtor is situated in more than one member State; recognition of insolvency proceedings across member states provides for enforcement of court decrees etc.
Similarly, OHADA Treaty and Nordic Conventions have also proved to be efficient in establishing cross-border insolvency rules across their member states.

There is scope to elaborate. While the question says 'briefly' it is for 5 marks.

QUESTION 4 (fact-based application-type question) [15 marks in total]

Flor Prim Pty Ltd (FPPL) is a company incorporated with its head office and significant operations in Encanto as well as being registered as a foreign company in Asgard, where it also carries on business. FPPL therefore carries on business in more than one State. Lobo Lending Ltd (Lobo) is incorporated and has its head office in Asgard.

FPPL is managing to meet its debts as they fall due in Encanto. However, due to various staffing issues combined with market turndown in Asgard, FPPL is struggling financially in Asgard. FPPL has fallen behind with payments due and owing to Lobo. FPPL's CEO approaches Lobo to discuss possible informal payment arrangements.

If you require additional information to answer these questions, briefly state what it is and why it is relevant.

Question 4.1 [Maximum 5 marks]

What are the main differences between "formal" insolvency proceedings and "informal" insolvency arrangements? What key advantages and disadvantages should Lobo consider regarding any informal out-of-court workout arrangement it could enter with FPPL, compared with its formal debt recovery options?

The main difference between formal and informal insolvency arrangements is be the involvement of the courts and the regulator in the settlement/arrangements.
Formal proceedings are governed by the applicable insolvency regulation whereas the informal proceedings will be shaped by the mutual discussions and negotiations between FPPL and its creditors.
Formal proceedings are collective in nature as there is a public notice and all creditors are involved whereas informal proceedings are between the debtor and the particular creditors.

The most significant advantage that Lobo should consider is the absence of other creditors of FPPL in the negotiation process. Once the formal insolvency proceedings are initiated, all FPPL creditors will be involved which could include creditors with security or having higher priority in the applicable regulations. It would be beneficial to consider costs and privacy.

The disadvantage that Lobo will have in such an arrangement will be the absence of any regulation over FPPL's assets. The arrangement will only depend on the willingness of FPPL to settle. It would be beneficial to consider moratorium and ability to bind dissenting creditors.

Question 4.2 [Maximum 5 marks]

Assume that instead of the scenario described above, Lobo obtained a formal court order against FPPL for a court-supervised insolvency proceeding in Asgard. The Asgardian insolvency representative then discovered there was already a concurrent insolvency proceeding commenced against FPPL in Encanto. Detail difficulties that may arise for the insolvency representative pertaining to co-operation and co-ordination and the international insolvency instruments that have been developed to assist with respect to those difficulties. In your answer make sure to comment as to whether the development of these international insolvency instruments is important and why, or why not.

The possible difficulties that could arise for the Insolvency Representative will be:

i. Lack of recognition of insolvency proceedings commenced in Asgard, in Encanto
ii. Lack of control over assets of FPPL in Encanto
iii. Moratorium issued by the courts in Encanto with respect to assets of FPPL in Encanto
iv. The difference in insolvency framework of the two countries with regard to principles of distributions, voidable transactions, discharge provisions, priorities and preferences etc.
v. Conflict of law issues

Therefore, the development of international instruments is extremely important as it could provide for uniform rules, recognition of insolvency proceedings in different countries, avoids concurrent insolvency proceedings, equitable distribution of assets, and avoid fraudulent practices.

Elaboration is needed regarding the various relevant international insolvency instruments.

Question 4.3 [Maximum 5 marks]

Assume that instead of the hypothetical facts mentioned above, FPPL is an incorporated company with offices in the UK, and throughout Europe and other non-European countries. Lobo is its major creditor and is incorporated in a country in Europe. An insolvency proceeding against FFPL was opened in the UK by a minor creditor on 30 June 2022. A month later, Lobo was considering also opening proceedings in another country in Europe. Discuss whether the European Insolvency Regulation Recast would apply with respect to the UK commenced insolvency proceedings, and the consequences of same. In answering this question set out what further information, if any, you might need.

The European Insolvency Regulation Recast would not apply with respect to the UK Commenced insolvency proceedings as the UK ceased to be a member of the European Union after December 2020.
However, if Lobo still opens proceedings in any other country in Europe, the UK-commenced insolvency proceedings will be governed by the 2006 Insolvency Regulations UNCITRAL Model Law on Cross-Border Insolvency and common law principles.
