QUESTION 2 (direct questions) [10 marks]

Question 2.1 [maximum 2 marks]

Question 2.2 [maximum 5 marks]

Differentiate between the concepts of universality and territoriality in cross-border insolvency.

Universality in cross-border insolvency would involve there being only one insolvency proceeding used to cover all debts and debtor's assets worldwide. Territoriality is the opposite where it would allow for insolvency proceedings to be commenced every jurisdiction in which the debtor holds assets. In addition to being territorially limited, there are restrictions to property with the State with opened proceedings. Universality also allows for worldwide creditors the opportunity to participate in the proceedings as all claims are treated equally, whereas, with territoriality there may be restrictions on which creditors can file claims.

Also, note, these theories involve two key aspects of private international law - recognition and effect as well as jurisdiction:
For example, with universalism, (1) the jurisdictional aspect requires all States to agree on the place for the one set of insolvency proceedings in respect of the debtor and, to be successful, (2) recognition and effect requires that other States recognise that one set insolvency proceedings and recognise it as having extraterritorial effect in their States.

Question 3.1 [maximum 5 marks]

Write a brief note on the differences regarding the objectives of insolvency for individuals and corporations.

The objective of insolvency for individuals is to separate the individual from the insolvency, thereby protecting them from creditors and allowing them to start over after the matter is settled. Question 3.2 [maximum 5 marks]

Write a brief note on the difficulties that may be encountered when dealing with insolvency law in a cross-border context relating to pertinent differences in the relevant systems.

There are a few difficulties when dealing with insolvency law in cross-border context as insolvency law standards are relatively low in many countries. Question 3.3 [maximum 5 marks]

What multilateral steps have been taken in the 21st century to promote harmonisation of domestic insolvency laws? In your opinion, how much impact are these likely to have in addressing international insolvency issues? Include reasons for your opinion.

The multilateral steps taken include starting by promoting a Legislative Guide on Insolvency Law for national authorities and legislative authorities to use when creating new laws and regulations. Further guidelines were also made, with revisions made periodically. The steps for dealing with cross-border matters according to World Bank's Principles include having a clear, speedy process when obtaining recognition of foreign insolvency proceedings. Next, relief should also be granted upon recognition of foreign insolvency proceedings and foreign insolvency representatives to have access to courts and other relevant authorities. Finally, courts and insolvency representatives should have access to courts and other relevant authorities and there should be non-discrimination between foreign and domestic creditors.

What is your opinion on how much impact these are likely to have in addressing international insolvency issues?

There is scope to consider political pressure, foreign investor pressure and/or loan conditions.

QUESTION 4 (fact-based application-type question) [15 marks in total]

Nadir Pty Ltd (Nadir) is a company registered in Utopia. Originally it was incorporated in the neighbouring country of Erewhon before moving its registration and head office to Utopia one month ago. Apex Pty Ltd (Apex) is incorporated and has its head office in Erewhon. Apex and Nadir enter into a contract by exchange of emails between their head offices for Apex to supply goods to Nadir in Utopia. Nadir has failed to pay for the goods which have been delivered in accordance with the contract. Apex issues court proceedings against Nadir in Utopia for monies owing for the goods sold and delivered.

Meanwhile, Nadir also owes monies to creditors in Erewhon. One Erewhon creditor obtains a court winding-up order against Nadir in Erewhon and a liquidator is also appointed by that court.

If you require additional information to answer the questions that follow, briefly state what information it is you require and why it is relevant.

Question 4.1 [maximum 5 marks]

Assume the UNCITRAL Model Law on Cross-border Insolvency has been adopted by Utopia without modification, except as required to domesticate it. For example, the Cross-border Insolvency Act of Utopia names its local laws relating to insolvency and its competent court under the Act. The Erewhon liquidator's investigations detect that Apex is suing Nadir in Utopia. The liquidator would like to stop Apex court action against Nadir in Utopia. Advise the Erewhon liquidator on the potential relevance of the Cross-border Insolvency Act of Utopia.

The UNCITRAL Model Law on Cross-border Insolvency provides relevance as this case has aspects in different states and therefore there may need to be more than one proceeding which would be in the different states. This law also promotes co-operation and co-ordination so it may be easier to settle these matters with the recognition and enforcement provisions. This is relevant to liquidators as it would mean that they will be that they lawyers for the court action will be encouraged to cooperate with the liquidators.

Detailed application of the articles relevant for the recognition and relief, including on COMI/establishment and on foreign main / non-main proceedings) was required for this fact-based application-type question.

More detail would have improved the mark awarded for this sub-question.

3.5

Question 4.2 [maximum 2 marks]

Would it make any difference to your answer in question 4.1 in the following two alternative scenarios to Apex suing for its debt?

- (a) Apex had filed proceedings to wind-up Nadir, but the matter had not yet been heard.
- (b) Apex had obtained a court order to wind-up Nadir in Utopia prior to the Erewhon winding-up order.

No as a court order has already been obtained in Utopia. Since the other one hasn't been heard yet, it cannot take precedence over the current winding up order.

Refer to Article 29 on concurrent insolvency proceedings, under which the local proceedings in Utopia maintain pre-eminence over the foreign proceedings in Erewhon.

Question 4.3 [maximum 8 marks]

NB: This question is not related to Questions 4.1 and 4.2

A court has ordered the commencement of an insolvency proceeding against a corporate debtor in the State of its incorporation and head office. The company has operated business in a number of States and has assets (real property or interest in land, other tangible assets and intangible assets); creditors (including taxation / revenue authorities) and directors in several States.

Select a country for the company's incorporation and, based on the insolvency laws of the country you select and the brief facts provided, describe four key international insolvency issues facing the insolvency representative in this scenario. For each issue, what domestic laws or international instruments apply to assist the insolvency representative address these four issues?

A Cayman Islands incorporated company going through this matter would mean that they would have to take control over the assets in the other states. Before they can do this, they will have to ensure that if they have become the new register office that they become authorised signatories. In most cases, the assets will attempt to be sold and monies consolidated into a final account for distribution. In tax jurisdictions, they must ensure that they are following the local laws of insolvency when selling assets and even ensuring that they obtain/maintain the relevant licences.

For an approach more closely applied to the facts, see the 'Model' Answer for four key international insolvency issues raised by the facts and facing the insolvency representative in this scenario.

More detail would have improved the mark awarded for this sub-question.
