QUESTION 2 (direct questions) [10 marks in total] 10 marks

Question 2.1 [maximum 3 marks] 3 marks

What is the key distinction between the application of the MLCBI and the European Union (EU) Regulation on insolvency proceedings? Also describe one key benefit and disadvantage of each approach.

The EU Regulation on insolvency proceedings seeks to harmonize the substantive insolvency laws of EU Member States whilst the MLCBI does not attempt to substantively unify the insolvency laws of its participating States and instead provides a procedural framework for co-operation between jurisdictions, which can be adopted, in whole or part, into the domestic legislation of a State.

The key benefit of the EU Regulation approach is that, once agreed, issues of assistance and recognition in cross-border insolvency are less likely to arise since domestic insolvency laws would be harmonized. The disadvantage of this approach is that it can be quite difficult for states to agree on treaties dealing with insolvency law.

The key benefit of the MLCBI approach is that it provides a feasible solution to the practical problems caused by the disharmony among national laws governing cross-border insolvencies, which can be easily adopted. The disadvantage of this approach is that whilst it promotes a uniform approach to cross-border insolvency, domestic insolvency laws are still substantively different which may lead to issues with application.

Question 2.2 [maximum 2 marks] 2 marks

Explain what the court should primarily consider using its discretionary power to grant post-recognition relief under Article 21 of the MLCBI.

When considering using its discretionary power under Article 21 of the MLCBI, the court will consider whether such relief is necessary to protect the assets of the debtor or the interest of creditors. Such relief must also be at the request of the foreign representative.

Question 2.3 [2 marks] 2 marks

Explain the protections granted to creditors in a foreign proceeding under Article 13 of the MLCBI.

Under Article 13, foreign creditors have the same rights as creditors domiciled in the enacting State regarding the commencement of, and participation in, local proceedings regarding the debtor under the insolvency law of the enacting State. However, enacting States that refuse to recognise foreign tax and social security claims are allowed to continue to discriminate against such claims.

Question 2.4 [maximum 3 marks] 3 marks

What is a key distinction with respect to the relief available in foreign main versus foreign non-main proceedings?

Recognition of a foreign main proceedings results in the following automatic reliefs: (i) a stay of the commencement or continuation of individual actions or individual proceedings concerning the debtor's assets, rights, obligations or liabilities; (ii) a stay of execution against the debtor's assets; and (iii) a suspension of the right to transfer, encumber or otherwise dispose of any assets of the debtor. Whilst the recognition of a foreign non-main proceeding only results in discretionary reliefs, where the grant of such relief is necessary to protect the assets of the debtor or the interest of creditors.

QUESTION 3 (essay-type questions) [15 marks in total] 5 marks

Question 3.1 [maximum 4 marks] 2 marks

A debtor has its COMI in Germany and an establishment in Bermuda, and both foreign main and foreign non-main proceedings as well as the recognition proceedings in the US have been opened. In this scenario, explain where the foreign proceedings must have been filed, and the likely result.

The foreign main proceeding must have been filed in Germany, where the debtor has its COMI. The foreign non-main proceeding must have been filed in Bermuda, where the debtor has an establishment. The US Court is likely to recognize the German proceedings as the foreign main proceeding and grant automatic reliefs to assist those proceedings whilst the Bermudan proceeding is likely to be recognized as a foreign non-main proceeding and the US Court has the discretion to grant relief.

Requires references to definitional and procedural provisions of MLCBI eg. Art. 2, 15, 17, 6 to substantiate answer

Question 3.2 [maximum 3 marks] 0 mark

Joint provisional liquidators commenced a recognition proceeding in the US and immediately were sued and served with discovery in connection with their alleged tortious interference with contract rights of the US-based vendors of the foreign debtor. Explain the likely outcome.

There is likely to be no merit to the suit brought by the US-based vendors of the foreign debtor. The recognition proceeding should not affect the substantive contractual rights of the US-based vendors.

Requires discussion based on Art.10 MLCBI

Question 3.3 [maximum 4 marks] 1 mark

A foreign representative who administers assets in a debtor-in-possession-like restructuring proceeding in the UK commences a recognition proceeding in the US, setting the recognition hearing 35 days after the petition date due to the availability of the court. There is no litigation pending or threatened against the foreign debtor, but US-governed leases and intellectual property licenses have ipso facto clauses (that is, bankruptcy-triggered terminations) that are not enforceable under the US Bankruptcy Code. Based on these facts, explain what steps, if any, should the foreign representative take to protect the assets and why?

The foreign representative can seek urgent interim relief under Article 19 of the MLCBI prior to the recognition decision after the recognition decision is filed as long as the interests of the debtors, creditors and other interested parties are adequately protected. Specifically, powers providing for the examination of witnesses, taking of evidence or the delivery of information concerning the debtor's assets can be sought. These powers if granted can assist the foreign representative in ascertaining whether any recovery action is required (should the leases and intellectual property licenses have been unlawfully terminated).

Requires discussion based upon Art.19 MLCBI including its definitions, as well as references to the provisions of Art 20 and/or 21 MLCBI as applicable.

Question 3.4 [maximum 4 marks] 2 marks

A foreign representative, who administers the assets of an insolvent debtor in an insolvency proceeding pending in Country A (where the foreign debtor has its registered office and not much more), commenced a proceeding in Country B to recognise the foreign proceeding as the foreign main proceeding in order to sell certain assets within the territorial jurisdiction of Country B, but unfortunately the insolvency court considering the petition for recognition denied the recognition of the foreign proceeding as a foreign main proceeding. Explain what may or should the foreign representative do next? What should the foreign representative have done at the outset?

The foreign representative can consider commencing a proceeding in Country B to have the proceeding pending in Country A recognised as a foreign non-main proceeding instead if he is able to show that the insolvent debtor had an establishment in Country B. He can then seek discretionary relief from the court in Country B to allow the sale of assets located within the territorial jurisdiction of Country B. However, on the facts, this seems that it might be difficult to establish that the debtor had an establishment in Country A since the debtor only has its registered office there and not much more.

As such it would seem that the foreign representative would have no choice but to commence a separate insolvency proceeding in Country B in order to deal with the assets in Country B. This should have been done at the outset.

Alternatively, depending on whether the laws of Country B in relation to the appropriate date for determining whether a COMI or establishment exists, the foreign representative could have tried to shift the COMI or establishment of the insolvent debtor to Country A before commencing the recognition proceeding in Country B. This would be possible under US law for instance where the date of determination of the debtor's COMI is at the time when the Chapter 15 petition (the recognition application) is filed (as opposed to the commencement of the foreign proceeding as is the case in most jurisdictions).

Art.16 MLCBI is the main reference for "rebuttable COMI presumption" to substantiate the representative's actions based on the weak COMI. References to Art.17, 21, 6 are also required.

QUESTION 4 (fact-based application-type question) [15 marks in total] 8 marks

Assume you received a file for a new client of the firm. The file contains the facts described below. Based on these facts, analyse key filing strategy to ensure a successful restructuring - specifically, whether to apply for recognition of main or nonmain proceeding or both (in light of COMI / establishment analysis), what papers need to be submitted, and what relief should be requested on day one of the filing.

The client is a Cayman Islands incorporated and registered entity. It is a financial service holding company for a number of direct and indirect subsidiaries that operate in the commercial automobile insurance sector in the United States. Globe Holdings was initially formed as a Canadian company in 2009, under the laws of Ontario, Canada. A year later, following certain reverse merger transactions, it filed a Certificate of Registration by Way of Continuation in the Cayman Islands to re-domesticate as a Cayman Islands company and changed its name to Globe Financial Holdings Inc. When it re-incorporated in the Cayman Islands in 2010 (from Canada), Globe Holdings provided various notices of its re-incorporation, including in the public filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). Around that time, Globe Holdings retained its Cayman Islands counsel Cedar and Woods, which has regularly represented Globe Holdings for over a decade. Globe Holdings has a bank account (opened just a few days ago) in the Cayman Islands from which it pays certain of its operating expenses. Globe Holdings often holds its board meetings virtually, and not physically in the Cayman Islands, and, having obtained support for a bond restructuring, all its regular and special board meetings have been organized by its local Cayman counsel virtually. The client also maintains its books and records in the Cayman Islands. Its public filings with the SEC as well as the prospectus provided in connection with the issuance of the Notes disclosed that Globe Holdings is a Cayman Islands company and explained the related indemnification and tax consequences resulting from Globe Holdings' place of reformation.

Globe Holdings has no business operations of its own. The business is carried out through its non-insurance company non-debtor subsidiaries that are all incorporated under the US laws and operating in the US. All employees are in the US. The headquarters are also in the US.

In April 2017, Globe Holdings offered and issued USD 25,000,000 in aggregate nominal principal amount of 6.625% senior unsecured notes due in 2023 (referenced above as the Notes) governed by New York law.

In 2019, Globe Holdings recorded on its consolidated balance sheet a significant increase in liabilities. As a result, Globe Holdings worked with external professional advisors to undertake a formal strategic evaluation of its subsidiaries' businesses. In September 2020, Globe Holdings announced that it was informed its shares would be suspended from the NASDAQ Stock Market due to delinquencies in filing its 10-K. Thereafter, on November 6, 2020, its shares were delisted from the NASDAQ stock market.

An independent third party is actively marketing the sale of the corporate headquarters located in New York including the land, building, building improvements and contents including furniture and fixtures.

Despite these efforts to ease the financial stress, the culmination of incremental challenges consequently resulted in Globe Holdings being both cash flow and balance sheet insolvent.

Globe Holdings retained Cedar and Woods, its long-standing Cayman Islands counsel, to advise on restructuring alternatives. Upon consultations with Cayman counsel and its other professionals, Globe Holdings ultimately determined that the most value accretive path for the Noteholders was to commence a scheme under Cayman Islands law, followed by a chapter 15 recognition proceeding in the United States, most notably to extend the maturity of the Notes and obtain the flexibility to pay the quarterly interest "in kind".

Globe Holdings expeditiously secured the support of the majority of the Noteholders of its decision to delay interest payments and restructure the Notes through a formal proceeding. Thereafter, on August 31, 2021, about 57% of the Noteholders acceded to the Restructuring Support Agreement (RSA) governed by the New York law. The RSA memorialized the agreed-upon terms of the Note Restructuring. When Globe Holdings approached its largest Noteholders regarding the contemplated restructuring, their expectations were that any such restructuring would take place in the Cayman Islands, which is reflected in the RSA.

On July 4, 2023, the client, in accordance with the terms of the RSA, applied to the Cayman Court for permission to convene a single scheme meeting on the basis that the Noteholders, as the only Scheme Creditors, should constitute a single class of creditors for the purpose of voting on the Scheme.

On July 26, 2023 the Cayman Court entered a convening order (the Convening Order) on the papers, among other things, authorizing the client to convene a single Scheme Meeting for the purpose of considering and, through a majority vote, approving, with or without modification, the Scheme. The Scheme Meeting was held in the Cayman Islands at the offices of Cedar and Woods. Given the Covid-19 pandemic, Scheme Creditors were also afforded the convenience of observing the Scheme Meeting via Zoom and in person via a satellite location in New York. Following the Scheme Meeting, the chairman of the Scheme Meeting (presiding over the meeting in person) reported to the Cayman Court that the Scheme was overwhelmingly supported by the Noteholders, with 91.83% in number and 99.34% in value voting in favor of the Scheme. The Sanction Hearing was held, and an order sanctioning the Scheme (the Sanction Order), which was filed with the Cayman Islands Registrar of Companies the same day.

During all of this time, a class action litigation was in the US was brewing but has been filed yet.

Globe Holdings should immediately retain US counsel to file a Chapter 15 recognition proceeding in the US to recognize the proceedings in the Cayman Islands as a foreign main proceeding.

The advantage of establishing that the Cayman proceeding is a foreign main proceeding is that Globe Holdings will be to avail itself of automatic reliefs under Article 20 of the MLCBI as adopted in the United States. Crucially, once the Cayman proceeding is recognized as a foreign main proceeding the US Court will stay the commencement or continuation of individual actions or individual proceedings concerning the debtor's assets, rights, obligations or liabilities. This would mean protection from the anticipated filing of the class action litigation.

In order to for the US Court to recognize the Cayman proceeding as a foreign main proceeding, the Court will need to satisfied that the COMI of the Globe Holdings is in the Cayman Islands. To establish this, Globe Holdings can rely on the rebuttable presumption in Article 16(3) of the MLCBI as adopted in the United States that the place of the registered office of the debtor is the place of its COMI. It can further support the argument by reference to the fact that it maintains its books and records and has bank account in the Cayman Islands (though this was only opened a few days ago under US law the appropriate date for determining the COMI is the date of commencement of the foreign proceeding – being the filing of the Chapter 15 so this could still be a relevant factor). There have also been public documents including filings with the SEC and the prospectus provided in connection with the issuance of Notes that disclosed that Globe Holdings is a Cayman Islands company as such it could be arguable that Cayman Islands as the debtor's COMI would be readily ascertainable by its creditors.

It may be difficult to show that Globe Holdings has an establishment in the Cayman Islands as the presence alone of bank accounts and books and records might not be sufficient. As such, it would be challenging for the foreign representative of Globe Holdings to seek recognition of the Cayman Islands proceedings as foreign non-main proceedings.

Pursuant to Article 15 of the MLCBI as adopted in the United States, the foreign representative of Globe Holdings would have to provide the US Court with a certified copy of the decision commencing the Cayman Islands proceeding and appointing the foreign representative or a certificate from the Cayman Islands court affirming the existence of the Cayman Islands proceeding and of the appointment of the foreign representative.

In light of the class action litigation brewing in the US, the foreign representative could consider seeking urgent interim relief under Article 19 of the MLCBI prior to the recognition decision after the recognition decision is filed.

The essay should contain to a minimum

1. Definitions (COMI, establishment, foreign main/non-mail proceedings etc.) with respective references to (if any) MLCBI provisions
2. A substantive discussion on the COMI presumption and alternative scenarios with corresponding courses of action
3. Reference to Art.6 MLCBI and other relevant procedures
